Workshops

Within the framework of the Congress, 3 workshops will be held:

1. The circular economy as an approach to sustainable development of the sugarcane agroindustry in the context of climate change.

Organizers: IRIS Unidos por el Clima Foundation, CITMA and the AZCUBA Sugar Group.

Objectives: Exchange science results, new technologies and good practices to strengthen the circular model in the agroindustrial process.

Promote a dialogue of experts on sustainability indicators with a circular economy approach and the estimates and measurements of greenhouse gas emissions in the sugar agroindustrial process.

Promote the International Alliance for the circularity of a resilient and low-carbon sugarcane agroindustry launched within the framework of COP28 and identify interests, actions and projects that strengthen it.

2. Workshop: "Bio-energy in the sugar cane agroindustry".

Organizers: ICIDCA, CENICAÑA, EEAOC.

Objectives: exchange on the state of the art, research results and international industrial experiences in the creation of energy carriers and extension of the use of renewable energy sources in the sugar cane agroindustry. In topics associated with: cogeneration schemes, energy integration, increase in the quantity and density of biomass, second generation ethanol, mixtures of gasoline with ethanol, biogas and bio-methane, photovoltaic solar energy, "green" hydrogen, and others. Identify joint collaboration projects between participating institutions.
